The Book Discussion group will meet in the Victoria Courtyard Lounge to discuss The Lincoln Highway by Amor Towles. Summary: In June, 1954, eighteen-year-old Emmett Watson is driven home to Nebraska by the warden of the juvenile work farm where he has just served fifteen months for involuntary manslaughter. His mother long gone, his father recently deceased, and the family farm foreclosed upon by the bank, Emmett's intention is to pick up his eight-year-old brother, Billy, and head to California where they can start their lives anew. But when the warden drives away, Emmett discovers that two friends from the work farm—the wily, charismatic Duchess and earnest, offbeat Woolly—have stowed away in the trunk of the warden's car. Together, they have hatched an altogether different plan for Emmett's future, one that will take the four of them on a fateful journey in the opposite direction to the city of New York. Spanning ten days and told from multiple points of view, Towles's third novel is a multilayered tale of misadventure and self-discovery, populated by an eclectic cast of characters, from drifters who make their home riding the rails and larger-than-life vaudevillians to the aristocrats of the Upper East Side. An absorbing, exhilarating ride, The Lincoln Highway is a novel as vivid, sweeping, and moving as readers have come to expect from Towles's work.

We will depart today for the On Wing exhibit at the Lloyd Library. The Lloyd Library has taken to the wing to bring a little-known part of the collection to the forefront – beautifully illustrated ornithology books and informative bird field guides. On the Wing pays tribute to early ornithologists with a display of books dating back to the 1600s and shows how the study of birds has inspired discovery and furthered scientific understanding of biodiversity and ecology. Naturalists, artists, and bird lovers have contributed to the literature with works describing where birds live, showing the beauty of birds as artistic subjects, and birding as a pastime. To complement this exhibition .and its mixture of science and art, sister-artists and naturalists Alex and Shae Warnick's bird paintings show how research in natural history imagery combined with personal observations in nature has resulted in unique interpretations in the art they create. Also on display are bird specimens, some extinct and some still with us, loaned from the ornithological collection of Cincinnati Museum Center. There is no cost to attend, however the museum would gladly accept donations
